about Noha, Bollywood movies, Bollywood hd video and Noha movie. Noha Noha (Urdu: نوحہ نوحہ ; Urdu pronunciation: [nohə]) is a kind of Urdu poetry. It is notable for being more complex than ghazal. Noha started out in the Mughal court, and its most famous exemplar is the work of the celebrated poet Nizami Ganjavi. Noha was a valuable part of the intellectual culture of the Indo-Persianate states of North India, and was continued by the Urdu poets of Pakistan. Noha is also known as Noha-e-Mujaz-e-Gani or Noha-e-Gani or simply Noha, which literally means "written verse" (noha), and sometimes spelled Nohai (Urdu spelling) or Nohay (Persian spelling). The origin of the term Noha is not certain. According to some authorities, it is derived from nazm (), the Persian name for poem, and from the Arabic na'mat (). The best known Noha-e-Gani or Noha is that written by Nizami Ganjavi, or simply Nizami. The main form of Noha is the ghazal, of which the following are well-known examples: Noha, like poetry in general, is a kind of entertainment. However, as a traditional part of the literary culture of the Indo-Persianate states, it has great significance. It was used as part of the Persianate literary culture of the Indo-Persianate states of North India, and later of the Indo-Persianate states of Pakistan, as well as a part of the literary culture of the Mughal court of the Subcontinent.
